MAKE THE WORLD GO ROUND

Kelloggsville High School
Volume XXXVI

FOREWORD

Between the wonderment of ninth grade and the pride of twelth grade one finds delightful creatures called KHSers. KHS students come in assorted sizes, weights, and styles, but they all have the same creed: to enjoy every second, of every minute, of every day, and to protest with noise, their only weapon, when the last period ends and the teachers send them scurrying to their lockers with assignments for the next day.

KHS students are found everywhere - in the counseling office, underneath gym mats, rocking to the latest Chicago hit, running through the hallways, or cutting into the pop line. Mothers love them, custodians pick up after them, classmates and friends understand them, most adults ignore them, and Heaven protects them.

KHS students are Truth, with a wad of gum in their jaws; Beauty, with their shirt-tails dragging; Wisdom, with their knowledge of what makes school tick; and the Hope of the future, with a sparkle of mischief in their eyes.

When the office secretary is busy, KHSers are inconsiderate, bothersome, intruding jangles of noise. When teachers want them to do excellent projects, their brains turn to jelly or else they become savage, sadistic jungle creatures bent on destroying the educative process and themselves with it.

Kelloggsville High School students are composites - they eat like horses, have dispositions like a one-armed coat hanger with an itch, possess the energy of a pocket-size transistor, are like cats full of curiosity, have the lungs of an intercom, are the owners of giant imaginations, are shy like firecrackers, loaded with enthusiasm for the future, and when they make something they have five thumbs on each hand.

They like potato chips, cake, "McDonalds", jeans, records, Christmas, yearbooks, the bov in English class, woods, water (in its natural habitat), stuffed animals, good friends, cars. Saturday mornings, and parties. They're not much for family outings, company, homework, books without pictures, tests, short lunch periods, and Mondays.

Nobody else is so late to class or so early to lunch. Nobody else gets so much fun out of ping pong, gymnastics, friends, and snowball fights. Nobody else can cram into one locker a set of textbooks, a half-eaten candy bar, three shoes, an empty lunch sack, two towels, six cents, a library book (overdue), a pile of overdue assignments, and a genuine autographed picture of Sam String and his electric guitar.

KHSers are magical creatures - you can chase them out of your office but you can't lock them out of your heart. You can get them out of the halls but you can't get them out of your mind. Might as well give up - they are your captors, your jailers, your citizens of tomorrow, and your hope for the future - these shirt-tailed, pint-sized, fun-chasing bundles of noise. But when you reach the end of a long day with only shattered pieces of your educational hopes and dreams, they can mend them like new with three magic words - "I like school."

(with respect to Alan Beck)

SENIORS

We, the senior editors, along with our fellow classmates, could think of no greater honor than to have you share with us a cherished part of this, "our" year.

Although this book may grow dusty with time and the print on these pages may fade, we will never forget our school days and the person we often turned to for help. You weren't just a commons supervisor or a coach; you were a counselor and more than anything else, a friend.

It is with great pleasure we dedicate the 1975 CENTURY to you, Mr. Stephen J. Fish.

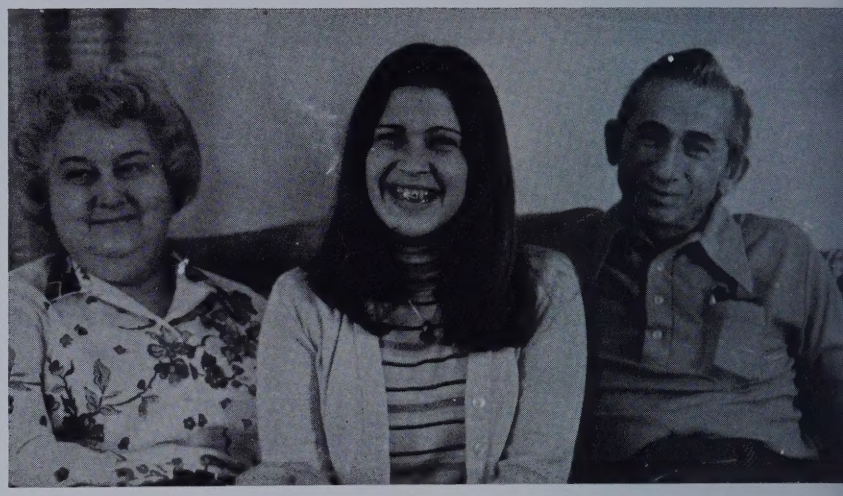
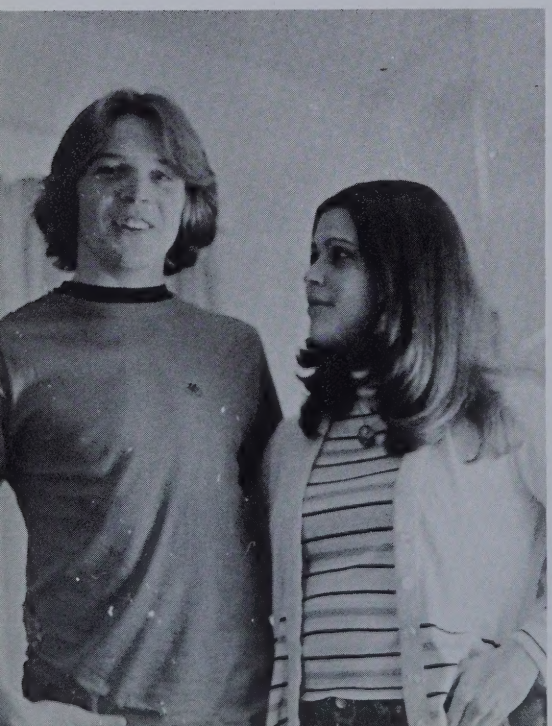
ACTIVITIES

ALL IN





"My name is Carla Maestrali, I'm an exchange student from Brazil.

Living here has been a fantastic experience for me. I miss my country but I don't want to go back, because I love each one of you. You really are nice, warm and friendly people, and K-Ville is just terrific.

You can be sure I'll come back to visit you. I'll never forget this year and I'll miss you forever."

Carla stayed with the Mary Stuba family and was a member of the Junior Class.

THE FAMILY

"It's so hard to put down in words what this whole year means to me . . . Like any other new experience we are faced with . . . we may find moments of happiness and even dissappointment, wonder and surprise, fear and accomplishment. I've had my share of all this . . . and the chance of seeing new places, doing new things, meeting different types of people . . . All these I take with me . . . with the hope that, along the line . . . I left, even just a tiny mark of accomplishment . . . for all of you to remember my by . . ."

"To my wonderful family . . . fun friends . . . and great school . . . Thank you Thank you so very much!"

Nona de Leon Sarangaya Philippines

Nona lived with the Jean Daly family and was a member of the '75 Senior Class.

AMERICAN HERITAGE

On April 6, 6:15 a.m., twelve students and two teachers boarded a TWA 707 on route to Washington D. C. for project Close-Up.

The following week was spent listening to various speakers, visiting monuments, and meeting President Gerald Ford.

On April 12, the students and teachers caught an early flight home. The trip was definitely a success.

Class Song: "We May Never Pass This Way Again" By Seals and Crofts

Class Flower: White Rose

Class Motto: The journey of a thousands miles begins with one step.

Class Officers:
President: Keith Kaniewski
Vice-President: Karen Polkowski
Treasurer: Dianne Reneker
Secretary: Cindy Westra
Advisers: Miss Susan Bignall and Mr. Thomas Nowak

We May Never Pass This Way Again

Life-so they say
Is but a game and they let it slip away
Love-like the Autumn sun
Should be dying but it's only just begun
Like the twilight in the road up ahead
They don't see just where we're going
And all the secrets of the universe
Whisper in our ears and all the years will come and go
and take us up always up
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
Dreams-so they say
Are for the fools and they let them drift away
Peace like the silent dove
Should be flyin' but it's only just begun
Like Columbus in the older days
We must gather all our courage
Sail our ships out on the open sea
Cast away our fears and all the years will come and go
And take us up-always up.
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
So I wanna laugh while the laughin' is easy
I wanna cry if it makes it worthwhile
I may never pass this way again
That's why I want it with you
'Cause you make me feel like more than a friend
Like I'm the journey and you're the journey's end
I may never pass this way
That's why I want it with you friend
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again

I can print

thirteen years ago i was thirty-eight inches tall and finger-painting. i was in kindergarten. we played house, saw jane run, and took coed naps.

then i got big -- i was a first grader. i could handle a whole day, i learned to print, and i drank warm milk through a paper straw and ate graham crackers.

in second grade . . . after christmas i learned how to write (incursive), we played tag, and had dress-up day.

in third grade we realized boys weren't all that bad - why didn't they think the same way though?

ahh . . . fourth grade! we were neato! and keen! we play jump-rope and rode stingrays - cool man.

fifth grade . . . we had music, reading and in different rooms just like high school kids. boys were a pain as they played with snakes and chased you a lot. they were real pests - and you just had to tell teacher!

sixth graders . . . big kids now. i sat in the first row. we were safties and we delivered the milk. now we chased the boys, played wedding, and twirled batons.

NEATO

with summers end - scared to death, hand in hand - we shuffled into the jr. high. in seventh grade we changed classes, had social studies not geography, had literature not spelling and almost every girl in the class tried out for cheerleading.

then, wow! on top again, we had health, nature studies and special "night" dances - so what if there were only two of them a year! we were in eighth grade.

freshmen now that's groovy. we had lockers, ips, a super float and an undefeated basketball team - some of us even went steady --- owww!

classrings, american lit, upstairs lockers, dances and drivers ed, of course -- i was a sophomore.

something happend that year, we all changed over that summer some of us even matured! we were second in command, now you understood why the seniors fought for the court yard - your float won, and you helped put on the pizza party and prom. wasn't that really beautiful, or was it? you picked the place, decorated it and served superfood. yes, here it is your junior year -- you wanted those seniors out -- but so soon? the years dragged from k thru sixth, the pace sped up 7th and 8th and you could swear the last 4 years flashed by, lasting only days -- not years.

i'm now 5 foot 2; 5 foot $6\frac{1}{2}$ with these shoes -- and i'm rowdy. games matured to poker and the stories go a bit further into depth, than jane just running. i can handle a whole day but what's skipping a class or two? i don't drink warm milk and woppers beat graham crackers any day. now for dress up day one wear their best jeans. boys are terrific and they don't think we are too bad either. we're now far out and good as -----, a ten speed or a car far outranks our rusty old stingrays.

we've got music - elton john, chicago, bto - and seals & crofts, (and just think we always thought dance with the lady with the hole in her stocking and home on the range were music). guys (not boys) can still be a pain but not because of snakes - its more like cause of breaks.

your friends don't play wedding - they try it out for real. now it's government instead of social studies and senior composition for american lit. we've still got lockers, it's parties and dances and as for the basketball team, well we'll go on -- are we more mature? we're no. 1 in command and prom is now considered boring, pizza party was fantastic, was it cuz it was given to you or you were closer to the juniors or maybe you'd drank something before you got there?! and now what's this i hear? "i miss this place", "but i'm scared", "i don't know what i'm gunna do, what about you?"

this year set track records in speed - one minute it was your first day and now what's this i'm turning that tassle - - turning the opening page to a whole new experience - - a whole new way of life - - it's graduation day - - congratulations friends!!! 'see ya in five years?
